Result of examination:

It was concluded that the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was not prepared by the individual who prepared the hand printing on Q4 and Q5. Because of the very limited nature of the hand printing and the lack of sufficient comparable material, a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was prepared by the individual who prepared the limited amount of hand printing on Q3.

It was concluded that the hand printing on Q1, Q2, Q4 and Q5 was not prepared by the individuals who prepared the hand printing on K1 through K12.

Because of the limited nature of the known hand printing, the lack of comparable material and a difference of approximately fifteen years in the time of the preparation of the known and questioned hand printing, a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether any of the hand printing on Q1, Q2, Q4 and Q5 was prepared by the writer of the hand printing on Kc13. If an additional comparison should be desired between the known hand printing of [REDACTED] and the questioned hand printing, it will be necessary that hand printing specimens prepared more recently be made available for examination purposes. These specimens should include all of the material comprising the questioned specimens.

Because of the limited nature of the material and the difference of approximately fifteen years in the time of the preparation of the questioned and known specimens, a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether any of the handwriting on Q3 was prepared by the writer of Kc13. Some characteristics were noted which would make it desirable to obtain additional and more recent specimens of the signatures and handwriting of [REDACTED] for comparison with Q3. b7C b7D

Q1 and Q2 do not contain any identifying characteristics which would assist in determining the source of the napkins.

Q1 through Q5 and K1 through K12 are returned herewith. Kc13 is returned to FBI, Springfield, with copies of this report. Appropriate photographs have been made of Q1 through Q5 and K1 through Kc13.

UNKNOWN SUBJECT; Possible Jury Tampering
In Connection With Trial of Frank Leonard Wortman, Et Al.
OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE

Enclosed is one copy of a self-explanatory memorandum dated 5-9-62 from the Criminal Division requesting investigation in captioned matter. Immediately initiate an investigation into this matter and completely resolve all possibilities as to jury tampering.

It appears that the most logical approach to this is to interview state and local officials who have worked on this case to obtain all information not previously furnished. Thereafter, appraise this information and conduct the necessary investigation.

Further, it appears that all jurors must be thoroughly interviewed. At time of interview, attempt to determine eating and lodging places where a conversation might have occurred that could have resulted in eavesdropping and the notes in question. You should, through these efforts, attempt to identify the source of the various comments noted on the napkins. During your interviews particular attention should be paid to [redacted] who appear to be the most logical suspects in this matter.

Consider the possibility of conversation in the jury room being overheard. Ascertain if the room is soundproof, etc.

Re: UNKNOWN SUBJECT; Possible Jury Tampering

The above suggestions are for your consideration in conducting this matter; however, your investigation should not be limited to these suggestions. You are in the best possible position to direct this investigation since you have been following developments closely. You must make certain that the investigation is probative and thorough and that all possibilities are completely exhausted. Afford this matter TOP PRIORITY attention and assign sufficient personnel to it to complete by 5-24-62.

A separate case is being opened at the Bureau under the above caption. Report only information as relates to this investigation under this caption and all hoodlum information should be submitted under the Anti-Racketeering caption, Frank Leonard Wertman, Et Al.

GENERAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION
5/14/62

This concerns the gangland killing on 3/3/62, of Elmer Dowling and Melvin Beckman (hoodlum lieutenants of Frank Wortman, leading hoodlum in East St. Louis, Illinois, area). Paper napkins were found on Dowling's body containing notations apparently referring to members of the jury which convicted Dowling and other Wortman gang members on 2/26/62 on a Federal income tax violation.

On 5/10/62, Organized Crime Section of the Department requested an Obstruction of Justice investigation. Advisability of interviews with subjects in the tax case being discussed with that section today. Springfield will be advised.

Press for decision.

V. RESULTS OF OBSERVATIONS, PHOTOGRAPHS AND INVESTIGATION FEDERAL COURTROOM AND
FEDERAL BUILDING, EAST ST. LOUIS, ILLINOIS

1Date May 21, 1962

A thorough personal examination and inspection was made of the second, third, and fourth floors of the Federal Building, East St. Louis. The first floor of the building is made up entirely of the lobby and Post Office work area and offices. The second floor occupies the court room, Office of the U. S. Clerk of Court, United States Marshal, Judge's chamber, outer Judge's office, and Judge's private washroom, plus the Office of the United States Probation Office, a Marshal's lock-up, a jury room, and the ladies' washroom. The courtroom is approximately 55 feet wide, 80 feet long, and 50 feet high. The walls of the court room are 18 inches to 24 inches thick, and the court ceiling extends up to the fourth floor of the building. Entrance from the court room is made by three doors from a corridor which are double solid oak doors with inner swinging doors. There is one door in the rear of the court room leading to the United States Clerk of Court's Office and one door in the front of the court room leading to the Judge's chamber.

All personal observation and inspection indicates there appear to be no ventilators through which voices would carry from the court room to any other part of the building. An air shaft runs from the second to the fourth floor next to the men's washroom, but it is separated from the court room by an 18-inch to 24-inch wall. There appears to be no air vent or duct of any kind that would carry voices from the court room to the air shaft of the men's washroom.

At the floor level on the third floor, there are three small windows opening onto the court room; however, these open near the court room ceiling, and two of them appear to be secured, while one over the spectator area of the court room can be opened partially. Inspection and observation would indicate, however, that voices from the court room would not carry to this level clearly. There are no vents or ventilators in the third floor men's washroom through which voices would carry from the court room. The same is true regarding ventilators in the second floor men's washroom.

Date May 24, 1962

During court session, United States District Court, East St. Louis, Illinois, in the Federal Courtroom, Federal Building, SA [REDACTED] made personal observations and audible or hearing tests regarding activities inside the courtroom. It was determined that while court was in session, nothing could be heard of the courtroom activities from any locations on the second, third and fourth floors of the Federal Building in adjoining rooms, washrooms, corridors, air shafts, Judge's Chambers with door closed to the courtroom, Clerk of the Court's office with door closed to the courtroom. It was determined that if the small ventilating window on the third floor corridor in the western area of the courtroom was open, it was possible to hear activity within the courtroom only by literally inserting or placing the ear up to the small opening provided by the ventilating window. This opening would be approximately eight inches of a small window that is hinged at the bottom and has a chain attachment allowing it to open. When this window was open and from a normal standing or kneeling position in the corridor, nothing could be heard of courtroom activities. b7c

VII. INTERVIEWS WITH DEFENDANTS IN TAX
TRIAL, THEIR ASSOCIATES, RELATIVES, AND OTHERS

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date May 21, 1962

FRANK LEONARD WORTMAN, usually known as "BUSTER" or "BUS," was interviewed in the dining room of the Paddock Lounge, East St. Louis. WORTMAN was advised that any information furnished would be voluntary, that he did not have to talk to Agents, that he had the right to legal counsel, and that any statement he made could be used against him in a court of law. No threats or promises were made to WORTMAN. WORTMAN said he did not desire to furnish any information in the form of a signed statement; however, he had no objection to talking with Agents, but did not want to be in a position of having any information he furnished being released to the press. WORTMAN at some length explained that he was unhappy with various newspaper stories during the past weeks concerning investigation by local authorities and said, "I can't see any sense in telling the newspapers everything the police are doing." It was thoroughly explained to WORTMAN that the FBI had not been conducting an investigation in the past regarding the killing of DOWLING and BECKMAN, and that the FBI had made no press releases concerning this phase of the investigation. WORTMAN was advised that the FBI is now conducting an investigation at the request of the Department of Justice regarding possible jury tampering and obstruction of justice in connection with the income tax evasion trial of himself and others that took place in Federal Court, East St. Louis, in January and February of 1962.

WORTMAN commented further that "they" knew the jury was being followed by the FBI and also that the FBI was surveilling him, WORTMAN, and the other defendants, as well as their lawyers. WORTMAN said in view of this, it would appear obvious to him that "nobody wanted to get out of line." He said further that he was well aware that the FBI has surveilled him and checked on him for years.

WORTMAN, at the outset, said the idea that he or any of the other people on trial with him "had anything going" for them with the jury was absolutely ridiculous. WORTMAN said, "I'm not the smartest guy in the world, but I've been around, and I know what fooling with a jury means." WORTMAN said he and the other defendants felt they had good attorneys and had a good case, insofar as their tax case, and it would be absolutely ridiculous and asking for more trouble to even consider a "fix" with the jury. WORTMAN said that, after all, to make any approach to a jury would mean going to business people and outsiders from their organization; and, he is intelligent enough to know any such contacts could be verified and established by the FBI. WORTMAN said he told those in his "outfit" that he did not want anyone even thinking about approaching or trying to approach the jury and made it clear before the trial and during the trial that there was to be no such activity by any of his "people." WORTMAN said further that he feels certain that if any of the "outfit" had even thought about or made any effort to get to the jury, he and ELMER DOWLING would have known about it. WORTMAN made it clear that he and DOWLING were the heads of the "outfit," and all instructions and decisions of any importance were made by them and through them. WORTMAN said further that if anybody even thought about "getting to the jury," that they would need money; and, the money would have to come from him and DOWLING. He said there was never any talk that he heard of money for a jury or for a person who could contact the jury or a representative of a juror. He said there was never any "fund" raised or attempt to raise a "fund" for this purpose. He said in this regard that the newspaper stories about a $20,000 "bundle" for a "fix" or possible "fix" with the jury were absolutely false; and, he had never heard of such a story, and knew absolutely nothing about it. WORTMAN at this point talked about TED LINK of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who had written some stories regarding the WORTMAN jury. WORTMAN said he has known LINK in the past and knows what kind of reporter this person is. He said LINK, in his opinion, makes up a lot of things, and that LINK had made no effort to contact him, WORTMAN. He understood, however, that LINK did try to contact his brother, "TED" WORTMAN, but "TED" refused to talk to LINK.

WORTMAN stated that other newspaper stories by LINK and other reporters about the court room being "bugged" are "complete nonsense." WORTMAN said he feels positive this not only did not but could not have happened; and, he pointed out that, as he understands, no one ever knew the jury was to use the court room for deliberation until a short time before the trial actually ended.

WORTMAN stated that, insofar as the napkin notes in DOWLING's pocket are concerned, he has absolutely no idea where DOWLING got them or when, and further that he, WORTMAN, did not know of their existence and feels certain no one else in the "outfit" knew about these notes or the information on them, because if it had been known, he would certainly have heard about it from ELMER DOWLING. He said whether DOWLING got the information the same evening of the slaying or not is unknown to him, but he would speculate that this was what happened. WORTMAN said he had been with DOWLING during the afternoon of 3/3/62 and, in fact, had dropped DOWLING off at DOWLING's home at about 4:00 or 4:30 p.m. that afternoon. He said DOWLING made no reference to any napkin notes or other information about the trial, but DOWLING did mention a meeting he was to have that night along with BECKMAN; but, the person to be met was not identified, nor was the reason for the meeting mentioned. WORTMAN said he feels sure that if the meeting were of any importance, he would have known the identity of the person to be met and the place of the meeting. WORTMAN said he could not speculate the reason for the meeting, other than it might have been about some location for coin machine business; but, this, of course, was entirely supposition.

WORTMAN said DOWLING seldom went out at night, and DOWLING actually was a sick man for years because of a heart condition which DOWLING was aware of and which is apparently a family trait, as many of the males in the DOWLING family died in their fifties from heart problems. He said DOWLING was aware of this situation and, as a result, lived a sedate life, did not "run around" nights, and had not done any drinking for the past three or four years.

WORTMAN said that from his observation of the napkin notes which the local authorities showed on several occasions, he is sure it is not DOWLING's printing. He said DOWLING seldom did any printing, insofar as he knows, and everything he has ever seen in DOWLING's hand has been handwriting. He said he has no handprinting specimens from DOWLING and has no idea where such would be available. He further said that the spelling on the notes would not be the kind of spelling errors that DOWLING would make.

WORTMAN said that he considers BECKMAN to have been "duncey." He said that they took BECKMAN into the "outfit" a number of years ago at the request of a friend of BECKMAN's father in St. Louis. He said this was brought about because BECKMAN was working as a "bouncer" in some of the low-class "joints" on Sixth Street in St. Louis and was often in trouble with the police; and, this family friend realized that eventually BECKMAN would end up in prison. WORTMAN said that, therefore, they put BECKMAN on the payroll. The only job he ever had, however, was that of a "bouncer" or doorman at "our crap games." WORTMAN at length talked about BECKMAN's general intelligence and ability and said BECKMAN did not have enough brains to make any real decisions, and no responsibility or decisions were given to him. He said BECKMAN had a "high opinion of himself and thought he was a lot smarter than he really was," and WORTMAN described BECKMAN several times as being "duncey." He said BECKMAN might have at times tried to promote vending machines of the WORTMAN business, but if he had any deal of any consequence "going," it would be cleared through himself or his brother, "TED," or DOWLING.

WORTMAN said he could not say if the handprinting on the notes was that of BECKMAN, but did observe that some of the spelling looked like misspellings BECKMAN might do, because he did not believe BECKMAN had much of an education. WORTMAN was unable to furnish or advise the source of any handprinting of BECKMAN. WORTMAN did speculate that it is possible that BECKMAN got some of the information appearing on the napkins through some of his friends at taverns or bars through mere conversation, since the trial was over, and then gave the napkins to DOWLING the night they were together on 3/3/62. WORTMAN claims he feels certain that if BECKMAN had the information that it would not have come from any juror or from anyone connected with the jury but would have been strictly "bar room talk" that BECKMAN felt DOWLING and WORTMAN would be interested in knowing about.

WORTMAN said that, after all, in this regard "they" did have information from the jury, since the case was over, and the information came to them from [REDACTED] b7C

[REDACTED] WORTMAN went on to comment at some length about the conviction of himself and others being a wrong verdict, because they did not violate the Internal Revenue laws and the Government did not have enough evidence to prove they did. He said further that he understood the jury was "tied up," and that if they had not been "forced" to stay out so long by the Judge, it would have been a "hung" jury for everyone. He said he understood the jury had been about 50-50 at one time, but that because they had to stay out so long, they finally came out with the verdict of conspiracy, which he, WORTMAN, felt was a "real unusual verdict." WORTMAN proceeded to discuss his previous convictions from 30 years ago in Federal Court and said, "After all, I blame my own dumbness for this." WORTMAN said he was only a "kid" then, and someone tried to tell him he could get six months on a plea of guilty, but he refused to do this and ended up getting 10 years.

WORTMAN went into his own feelings on the killings of BECKMAN and DOWLING, saying he just couldn't believe that the napkin notes and information on the napkins had anything to do with BECKMAN and DOWLING being killed. He said after the killings he, WORTMAN, was very scared and upset; and, for the first week he only slept five hours, and the second week, only about 12 hours. He said that at first he thought it was someone inside "our outfit," and, if this was the case, felt they would be after him. He said immediately after the killing he and other members of the "outfit" talked to a lot of people and ran out a lot of leads, which always ended up in a dead end; however, he said he was finally convinced that it was not "done from the inside," and was able to "pull" himself together. He said since then, he and his "people" have continuously tried to run down leads; and, they probably have worked as hard as the law-enforcement people on the case, if not harder. He said that they speculated on the powdery material being a "plant" of dope and went so far as having some people on the "outside" contact dope addicts to see if it could be this, and if it was starch that was used to "cut" the dope. WORTMAN said that they found out that starch could not be used and would not be used to "cut" dope.

WORTMAN said at this time "they" still do not know who did the killings, but that they will keep on trying to find out and hope to come up with the answer. WORTMAN speculated on the killings being "one of those crazy things" where some person got into BECKMAN's car for no good reason, killed both of them, and robbed them. He said in this regard he knows that DOWLING always carried a wallet, which wallet has never been found, and knows DOWLING had $300 or $400 in his wallet, with about $70 in his pocket, which WORTMAN described as "pocket money." He said the napkin notes, as in our outfit in 20 years," and that none of their "people" had ever been killed like ELMER DOWLING and MEL BECKMAN were killed. He described his close relationship with DOWLING and said, "ELMER was closer than my own brother and has been for a long time," and that "they" have been together for about 20 years. WORTMAN said he knows that both BECKMAN and DOWLING did not have guns on them when they were killed or even had guns with them that night, because he has located "all of their guns" and knows they were not armed. He said there had been some speculation that a police officer might have done the killing, but this resulted from conversation with local authorities when the subject was brought up, as to whether such was possible. WORTMAN said he observed that this was possible, but never identified any law-enforcement people by name, organization, or whether it could be state, local, or Federal. WORTMAN said he has no reason to believe or disbelieve law-enforcement people could have been responsible for the killing or furnishing or placing the napkins on DOWLING's body.

WORTMAN then went into a discussion about the relationship of "their outfit" with the police over the years and said he has always tried to get along with everyone and does not go along trying to stir up trouble. He said for years they have gotten along with the local police, and the local authorities, because they made an effort to do so. He said, "After all, it's to their advantage, too, for us to keep the various men employed so they don't get into trouble with the police by doing stick-ups, burglaries, and other crimes." He said, "As long as our men are working, they aren't going to get into trouble." He said he doesn't approve of "rough stuff," and that if any of his people are involved in such, he gets rid of them. WORTMAN said, "After all, the only thing we have ever done is gamble, and we're gamblers, and the local authorities know this." He said, "If we can get into action, we can keep a lot of people on our payrolls and keep them working." He said, "The St. Louis Police know this. It's the way we do business, and that's for their benefit, too."

WORTMAN said that insofar as BECKMAN is concerned, it would be impossible for "MEL" to have been making any deal involving any amount of money, because WORTMAN said he doubted that BECKMAN ever had more than $2,000 to his name in his life. He said if BECKMAN needed money, he could only get it from himself, WORTMAN, or DOWLING. He said that he knew most of DOWLING's friends and associates, but, of course, they have since found out he had contacts with some people they did not know about and had been "running around" some that they did not know about, including hanging around at the "Gaslight Square" in St. Louis. He said he has no information that BECKMAN was acquainted with or associated with [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] b7c

WORTMAN said he, of course, was smart enough to realize someone might have been trying to do a "con job" in connection with the napkin notes, whereby they might try to make him and ELMER believe they were important and significant and then try to get some money out of them for the information. He said he is not "stupid enough" to think BECKMAN wouldn't do such a thing, because he knows BECKMAN would. WORTMAN said that after all, he, WORTMAN, is only human and would go along with a deal if it looked like the information was of value. WORTMAN again said he had never had any indication that BECKMAN had any such deal "going," and there had never been any "claim agent" make any approach for money. WORTMAN said, "That's one thing we're waiting for--for somebody to make a claim."

WORTMAN advised he would instruct "his people" to co-operate with the FBI in the investigation and would make any of them available if Agents couldn't locate them. He said, "After all, I'm as interested in clearing up this whole thing as you are, if not more so." WORTMAN said his "outfit" is not going to use any "muscle" and never has used "muscle."

WORTMAN said in connection with their vending business that if anyone ever says that they used "muscle," this is not true. He said, "We might try to put a little pressure on a friend who has a tavern or restaurant using vending machines by telling the friend if he won't do business with us, we aren't going to do any more favors for them." WORTMAN said if this is "muscle," they have done this and will continue to do it. WORTMAN again went into an explanation that he does not approve of any "rough stuff," and does not go out looking for trouble, but tries to "back away from trouble." He further stated that he believes in trying to "keep things happy," because it always works out better that way.

WORTMAN said he does not believe that anyone could have overheard what was going on inside the court room during deliberation and said he had never had any contact with any of the jurors at any time, nor had he had any contact with any of the Marshal's staff, other than visiting with them in the court room corridors or through the trial. He said there were miscellaneous comments and conversations, but nothing of significance that he recalls.

WORTMAN said he does not believe anything could have been overheard from the men's room on the second floor of the court house, but observed that when he and the other defendants were in the men's room, they always put their fingers up to their mouths, meaning not to talk, because he, WORTMAN, is "scared to death of any ventilator." WORTMAN pointed out that there was a ventilator near the ceiling in the washroom, and that, after all, he didn't know who might have been listening through that source.

WORTMAN said he can't help but believe that the napkins [REDACTED] were "plants," and further that, as he understands it, none of the numbers on the napkins are accurate. He stated he can't believe that it came out of the jury. He said all during the trial and the deliberation he never got off of the second floor and doesn't know what is on the third floor of the court house or if the court room can be observed or if information can be overheard from this location. b7c

WORTMAN said "they" will have to take care of Mrs. DOWLING and her children to see that she gets proper income to raise her family, and they will do this.

[REDACTED] b7c

WORTMAN said if the FBI wanted to talk to him further, he would be available on contact with him.

Result of examination:

It was concluded that the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was not prepared by the writers of K15 through K25 and K27 through K38. Because of the limited nature of the known hand printing a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether Q1 and Q2 were written by the writers of K26 or K40 but nothing particularly significant was noted.

Because of the lack of sufficient comparable material a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was prepared by the writer of K14. It is to be noted that the questioned material is hand printed while K14 is almost entirely handwritten.

It was not possible to determine whether Q1 and Q2 were written by a right or left-handed person.

A definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the napkins used for Q1 and Q2 are similar to the napkins designated as K38 and K39, inasmuch as the original questioned documents are not available in the Laboratory.

K14 is returned to St. Louis herewith. K15 through K39 are returned to Springfield with copies of this report. K40 is returned to Kansas City with copies of this report. No photographs have been made.

Result of examination:

It was concluded that the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was not prepared by the writers of K42 and K43.

Because of the limited nature of the known hand printing, a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the hand printing on Q1 and Q2 was written by the writer of the hand printing designated as Kc41, but nothing particularly significant was noted in the limited amount of comparable hand printing available.

K42 and K43 are returned to St. Louis with copies of this report. Photographs are retained. Kc41 is retained in the files of the Bureau.

UNSUB; Possible Jury
Tampering In Connection
With Trial of FRANK LEONARD
WORTMAN, ET AL
OOJ

(OO: Springfield)

For the information of WFO, investigation is currently being conducted in an effort to resolve allegations that the jury was tampered with in connection with the trial of FRANK LEONARD WORTMAN, et al, which was an income tax trial held in USDC, East St. Louis, Ill., during January and February of 1962. Two of WORTMAN's henchmen, ELMER SYLVESTER DOWLING (also one of the defendants in the trial) and MELVIN JOHN BECKMAN, were shot and killed by unknown assailants on 3/3/62 near Belleville, Ill. Recovered on the body of DOWLING were two paper napkins containing certain handprinting relating to certain aspects of the jury deliberations.

In an effort to locate handprinting specimens of BECKMAN and DOWLING, contact was made with [REDACTED] Selective Service Local Boards 103-111, New Federal Building, 1520 Market St., St. Louis, Mo., by SA [REDACTED] on 6/5/62. It was determined that BECKMAN registered with LB 106 on 9/14/48 and in his Selective Service Classification Questionnaire, dated 10/27/48, is contained handprinting which appears to be handprinting of MELVIN JOHN BECKMAN. [REDACTED] advised she could not make the original of that Selective Service questionnaire available without the approval of her superiors.

It is noted that Department Attorney, ROBERT CAHILL, while in East St. Louis the latter part of April, 1962, did discuss the over-all matter relating to the WORTMAN trial, the killing of DOWLING and BECKMAN, as well as the investigation by authorities of the WORTMAN jury with United States Attorney CARL W. FEICKERT and possibly with other Federal officials, including U.S. District Judge JUERGENS.

St. Louis has advised they have made diligent searches for handprinting of DOWLING, BECKMAN and through old Selective Service records, handprinting believed to be that of BECKMAN was located at St. Louis Selective Service Headquarters. St. Louis advised arrangements have been made whereby BECKMAN's file is being forwarded through Selective Service Headquarters in Missouri to the National Headquarters of the Selective Service System in Washington, D.C., at which place this file will be made available to the Bureau. St. Louis has submitted appropriate communications regarding this matter.

According to St. Louis Office, DOWLING's Selective Service file previously maintained at St. Louis has been destroyed.

Regarding the Laboratory examination report, it does not appear that submitting the original napkins for examination with the Jewel Tea Company or Hudson napkins would be of any particular benefit at this time.

The FBI Laboratory under date of May 28, 1962, advised examinations were made of handprinting of the following individuals with that on the napkin notes:

Two hundred eighteen large index cards bearing purported known handwriting and handprinting [REDACTED]

The Laboratory advised it was concluded that the handprinting on the napkins was not prepared by the individuals listed, and due to the limited nature of known handprinting a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the napkins were written by [REDACTED] or MELVIN JOHN BECKMAN, but nothing particularly significant was noted. The Laboratory further advised because of the lack of sufficient comparable material a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the handprinting on the napkins was prepared by the writer of the 280 large index cards bearing purported known handwriting and handprinting [REDACTED]. The Laboratory observed that mostly this material was handwritten.

The Laboratory stated it was not possible to determine whether the napkin notes were written by a right or left-handed person.

The Laboratory further stated a definite conclusion was not reached as to whether the napkins used for the notes are similar to the submitted napkins distributed by the Jewel

The FBI Laboratory, by communication dated June 5, 1962, advised examinations of handprinting of [redacted] and [redacted] had been examined with the napkin notes and it was concluded that the above individuals did not prepare these notes. b7c

The Laboratory further advised that due to the limited nature of known handprinting on the Photostat of [redacted] bearing handprinting and signature of MELVIN JOHN BECKMAN, a definite conclusion could not be reached as to whether he prepared the notes but nothing particularly significant was noted in the limited amount of comparable handprinting. b7D

These documents should be returned to Indianapolis upon completion of examination.

Mr. MICHAEL KIRBY, Chief, Inquiries and Records Division, Finance Center, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, states that, in his opinion, ELMER SYLVESTER DOWLING would have prepared the handprinting on the Application for Family Allowances dated 4/27/43 and that his wife, GLADYS DOWLING, would have prepared the handprinting on the Change of Address card dated 3/8/44; however, he cannot positively state that ELMER SYLVESTER DOWLING prepared the document, inasmuch as he knows that during that period of time some of the clerks in the company orderly rooms prepared the documents for forwarding to the wife for her signature. He pointed out that in all instances that he is aware of the personnel clerk would have typed the form rather than handprinted it. Mr. KIRBY also noted that the Change of Address card could not have been prepared by ELMER DOWLING, inasmuch as he was overseas at the time the card was prepared.

NSLI records do not contain any handprinting material. The NSLI record is merely a notation in the serviceman's record that he desired to take out this insurance.

A marriage certificate is contained in DOWLING's Family Allowance folder; and this certificate indicates that it was issued in the State of Illinois, County of St. Clair, on 3/11/27 to JOSEPH DOWNING and GLADYS JOHNSON, both of St. Louis, Missouri. This certificate indicates that JOSEPH DOWNING and GLADYS JOHNSON were married at East St. Louis, Missouri, by Justice of the Peace A. J. STOCKER.

On the Application for Family Allowances form dated 4/27/43 submitted to the FBI Laboratory, it is stated under Item #5 that for any members of the soldier's immediate family who are serving as soldiers, sailors, Marines, or Coast Guardsmen should be listed by name and setting forth home address. On this form in answer to this question, there appears the word "unknown." This should not rule out the fact that the handprinting could have been DOWLINGS, inasmuch as in the portion of the serviceman's record that is contained in his Allotment folder. [REDACTED] b7c

The enclosures for the Springfield Division are being furnished for whatever value they may be to Springfield. Springfield is requested to return these documents to Indianapolis when their usefulness has been served. No lead is being set forth for the Springfield Division, inasmuch as any leads to be derived from the information furnished is left to the discretion of the Springfield Division.

The above documents were furnished to SA (A) [REDACTED] on 6/15/62 by Colonel ALVA L. RITCHIE, Chief of the Allotments and Deposits Division, Finance Center, United States Army, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. b7c

Referenced Springfield airtel requested Chicago to obtain hand printing specimens of ELMER SYLVESTER DOWLING. A review of a disability claim file, # C 5 628 212, maintained by Veterans Administration, 2030 West Taylor, Chicago, Illinois, reflected the enclosed to be the only samples of hand printing in this file. It is not known if all of the printing was done by DOWLING.

Photographic copies of the enclosed were to have been made by the VA; however, the enclosed copies were presented instead. These copies are being forwarded for whatever value they may be and photographic copies will be obtained and forwarded.

The FBI Laboratory is requested to conduct hand printing comparisons with previously submitted material, namely two paper napkins containing hand printing specimens. Results of examination should be forwarded SAC, Springfield (SI 72-39).

No fingerprint examination of the enclosures is requested.

b7c For the information of the Bureau and Springfield, [redacted] Bureau of Public Debt, advised on 7/3/62 that she learned that the application forms for Series E bonds are destroyed by the issuing agent after 2 years from issue. PENALTIES PROVIDED IN PUBLIC ACTS COVERING PENSION AND COMPENSATION

The assignment or transfer of any right or interest in any pension is void and has no effect. Any person who shall pledge or receive a pledge covering the transfer of any right or interest in any pension, or who holds the same collateral security for a debt, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined a sum not exceeding $200 and the cost of the prosecution.

Any person who knowingly or willfully makes or aids, or assists in the making or presentation of any false or fraudulent affidavit or writing purporting to be such, concerning any claim for pension, or any person who knowingly certifies that the deponent, affiant, or witness named in such declaration, affidavit, etc., appeared before him and was sworn thereto, when in fact such affiant or witness did not so appear, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for a term of not more than 5 years.

That whoever in any claim for benefits makes any sworn statement of a material fact knowing it to be false, shall be guilty of perjury and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than 2 years, or both.

That if any person entitled to payment of pension, whose right to such payment ceases upon the happening of any contingency, thereafter fraudulently accepts any such payment, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than 1 year or both.

While a claimant has a right, if he so desires, to employ a duly recognized pension attorney or pension claim agent to assist him in prosecuting his claim, it is not necessary that he incur this expense, and any attorney or agent so employed may not legally charge any fee other than that allowed and paid by the Veterans Administration.

Any person who shall knowingly make or cause to be made, as a conspiracy, combine, aid, or assist in, agree to, arrange for, or in anywise procure the making or presentation of a false or fraudulent affidavit, declaration, certificate, statement, voucher, or paper, or writing purporting to be such, concerning any claim for benefits under this title, shall forfeit all rights, claims, and benefits under this title, and, in addition to any and all other penalties imposed by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or both.
